

My company cared so much for my wellbeing, they decided to let me go...

The world-wide staff complement of Shell Global exceeds 100,000 - in more than 100 countries.

In May 2009, every staff member, plus every sub-contractor, signed an agreement to adhere to twelve life-saving rules.

This is not simply lip service to an intension to improve our safety record.

In one of the strongest commitments to H.S.S.E ever issued, the agreement states, quite simply:

SAFETY RULES
For details of the 12 Life-saving rules please visit www.easigas.co.za

"People who choose not to following the 12 life-saving rules choose not to work for Shell"

So that's when I said to them - "Nobody's gonna make me follow their silly rules..."

As the major supplier of LPG to the mining sector in South Africa, we recognize and support the industries commitment to improving mine safety and the reduction of mining related accidents.
